

ABSTRACT OF DISCLOSURE

Mutations in alleles of the gene encoding the CD2BP1 protein are identified as a causative factor in PAPA syndrome. Methods of diagnosing PAPA Syndrome and methods of screening for effectors of mutated protein binding and function are disclosed.